Inquiry Starts Into Penticton Plane Tragedy

A team of Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the transport Navy divers today began the department's regional director search for bodies and for air services, said the planes wreckage from Saturday's mid-air collision were flying under visual flight rules and were not in radio contact with air traffic control. The crash occurred over Penticton's Shasta Lake, about 500 feet above the water and the sky was cloudless.

The crash claimed eight lives. The SCUBA team arrived from Esquimalt Sunday. So far, parts of two bodies, of a man and a woman, have been recovered. One of the planes, a twin-engine Aero Commander, is believed to be in 150 feet of water. The other, a smaller Cessna 160, is thought to be near the lake's east shore in about 75 feet.

Meanwhile two department of transport inspectors have started an inquiry into the cause of the accident, and they hope to be assisted by the findings of the naval divers. Investigators C. Leyland and William McCubbin of Vancouver are trying to determine what caused the planes to collide in seemingly perfect flying conditions.

Since there were no survivors, the investigation will depend on information from witnesses and still undiscovered wreckage from the planes. Dead are Richard Partridge of Penticton, 49, regional distributor for Royalite Oil Company, his wife Margaret, daughters Rebecca, 17, and Lorinda, 8, and son Richard, 15. Ernest Ralph Hanson, 19, a friend of Partridge, and the two pilots, Ed Lewko of Edmonton and Earl Sibley, 26, a native of Dartmouth, N.S.

A sixth member of the Partridge family, Jenny Lee, 14, was not aboard the plane. She was reported in a state of shock and was in the care of relatives here.

Accidents Kill 40

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Accidents killed 40 persons in Canada during the week ended Sunday, including eight who died when two light planes collided 500 feet over a British Columbia lake.

A survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. Friday to 12 midnight local time Sunday showed that 19 persons died in traffic accidents, six in fires and five in drownings. Two others, in addition to the plane crash victims, died in other types of accidents. Manitoba, Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick reported no accidental deaths.

Ontario led in road fatalities with 11. Four died in Quebec roads, two in Saskatchewan and one each in Newfoundland and Alberta.

A fire in Quebec province killed a family of five, and a child died in a fire in Ontario. Three youths were drowned when their 14-foot boat overturned in Alert Bay 200 miles northwest of Vancouver.

KELOWNA MAN FATALLY HURT IN CAR CRASH NEAR KAMLOOPS

George William Soderburg, 25, of Kelowna, was fatally injured in a highway accident at 9:40 a.m. Sunday, 14 miles west of Kamloops. He was a passenger in a car driven by Thor O. Green of Kamloops, which was involved in a crash on the Trans-Canada Highway.

Mr. Soderburg formerly worked for D. Chapman and Co. in Kelowna, but left them three years ago. He was a long distance furniture mover. RCMP in Kamloops said today charges were being prepared against Mr. Green. Soderburg's wife, Marilyn Jean, phoned from Kamloops to tell the family.

He died in a Kamloops hospital early today. Another accident, 40 miles east of Kamloops, Sunday night claimed the life of Earl F. Rees, 56, of Salmon Arm. His car slammed into a bridge abutment, according to RCMP.

New Spy Scandal Hits UK As Atom Scientist Probed

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain was rocked anew today with another spy scandal as a top British atom scientist was probed for alleged espionage activities. The scientist, Dr. John G. Dunning, 42, was a member of the British Atomic Energy Commission and was working at a British research station in the United States. He was arrested during the weekend and jailed after a two-minute court appearance to await further charges.

The latest drama broke within 26 hours after the government of Prime Minister Macmillan published a special report on the case of imprisoned spy William Vassall, who gave secrets from the British Admiralty to the Russians. Scotland Yard detectives arrested Martelli late Friday night when he arrived at Southend Airport east of London from Ostend, Belgium. They also searched his expensive automobile.

An employee of Euronorm, the European Atomic Energy Community Organization, Martelli previously worked for about five years in the nuclear physics department of Britain's Birmingham University.

REFUSE BAIL
Bail was refused Martelli, and he was remanded into police custody until May 6. Newspapers reported that scientists at Culham, a non-secret atom research centre where he was working, were trying to harness power from light elements.

"Nazis" And Jews In Battle At Los Angeles Celebration

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ten persons were injured in a free-swinging battle between Jews and Nazis outside an observance of Israel's 15th anniversary of independence. The combatants used fists and clubs, during the 10-minute struggle Sunday night in front of the Shrine Auditorium, police said.

Four swastika-clad members of the American Nazi party and four policemen were injured. Two Jews were treated by ambulance attendants at the scene. Guests inside the huge auditorium, including such entertainers as Jack Benny, Ziva Rodan, Kathryn Grayson, Raymond Massey, Bill Gage, Jimenez, Danny Kaye, and Gene Kelly, were unaware of the fight outside.

Dominican Force Moves on Haiti

Armed Clash Threatened After Invasion Of Embassy

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Dominican troops started moving toward Haiti today to keep the peace. The dispute with the Dominicans flared as a result of Duvalier's attempt to crush rising opposition to his regime. Tension began mounting a week ago when leaflets warned Duvalier that an attempt would be made to overthrow him May 15—the constitutional date for the end of his first term as president.

Suspicious that opposition to him centred in the regular army, Duvalier last week fired 61 officers, the bulk of the army's leadership. The dictator has built up a personal militia and presidential guard that outnumber the army and are better armed.

On Friday, occupants of a speeding car opened fire on Duvalier's two children, Jan Claude, 12, and Simone, 11, as they were being driven home from school. Three of the children's guards were slain but the children were not hurt.

The attack triggered weekend violence in which 15 persons were reported killed and at least 60 Haitians, including former army officers and their families, took haven in Latin American embassies.

The Organization of American States ordered a five-nation fact-finding team to fly to both countries to investigate the crisis.

U.S. Decline To Join OAS Group in Fact-Finding Commission

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has declined representation on the fact-finding commission the Organization of American States plans to send to Haiti, an OAS official reported today. OAS Council President Gonzalo Pacheco Costa (Costa Rica) Sunday night named the United States as one of five nations making up the group to investigate charges by the Dominican Republic that Haiti is endangering hemispheric security.

Pacheco said today he understood the United States declined an OAS request to serve on the mission because the Haitian government feels the United States is not impartial toward the government of President Francois Duvalier.

U.S. officials said that Haitian-American relations are delicate, therefore it would not be proper for the United States to participate in the mission. The four members chosen so far are Colombia, Chile, Ecuador and El Salvador. Pacheco said after a one-hour meeting with their representatives that a fifth member has not been named. Brazil and Bolivia are believed under consideration.

Robert A. Farquharson, 63, Canadian embassy information officer, is in Washington hospital centre suffering from what embassy officials describe as heart exhaustion. The hospital said today is condition is fair.

Hon. Robert Taschereau, 60, took his seat today on the Supreme Court of Canada as Canada's 11th chief justice.

James Tarkenton, 21, swam for two hours in near-freezing waters near Alert Bay, to tell of the drowning of his three companions. Exhausted but unharmed, Tarkenton said he and Ronald Mylly, 20; Thomas Shields, 19; and Raymond Blund, 21, were flipped from their 14-foot boat by a wave about halfway between Malcolm and Cormorant Islands.

VIENTIANE (AP) — The lull in the Laotian fighting went into its fourth day today with neutralists and pro-Communists apparently biding their time during diplomatic negotiations. The Communist-controlled Pathet Lao held fast to the territory it seized from the neutralists on the strategic Plain of Jars but made no new advances.

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — Three Great Lakes unionists posted pickets today in a dispute over a foreign ore carrier tied up at the docks of the Pittsburgh and Conneaut Dock Co.

GITAWA (AP) — Malaysia's deputy prime minister said today he would like to examine the possibilities of Canada providing training facilities for armed forces and of having Canadian officers help train Malaysian forces. Tun Abdul Razak bin Hussein called on Prime Minister Pearson for a "minute discussion" described by the visitor as "a matter of general interest to both our countries."

Tobacco Firm Issues Plea "To Aid Canadian Smokers"

MONTREAL (CP) — The Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada went before the royal commission on taxation today "on behalf of the Canadian smoker" to seek a drastic reduction in taxes on cigarettes.

"There is no rhyme nor reason for a government to depend on the tax revenue of cigarettes," said J. A. Calder, Imperial's treasurer. "If not eliminated, the taxes should be drastically reduced."

Apart from the 11 per cent federal sales tax, cigarettes are subject to an excise duty of $4.40 per thousand and an excise tax of $5.50 per thousand. This, said the Imperial brief, totals 209 per cent of the manufacturers' selling price. At the retail level, the tax totals 20 cents on a 36-cent package.

As a comparison, said Mr. Calder, the taxes on liquor total only 37 per cent of the retail value. "Quite obviously, cigarettes are taxed most heavily."

Since about half of Canadian adults smoke, "it means that one-half of the population is being taxed more heavily than the other without any pretence at equity or benefit."

"The smoker is not seeking special treatment. Quite to the contrary, he is seeking relief from the special treatment he has been getting."

Mr. Calder told the commission, headed by Kenneth Carter, a Toronto chartered accountant that convenience of collection, and not equity, is one reason for the high tobacco taxes.

As for smoking being a luxury, he said, it is "an odd sort of luxury since it is enjoyed by per thousand and an excise tax of $5.50 per thousand. This, said the Imperial brief, totals 209 per cent of the manufacturers' selling price. At the retail level, the tax totals 20 cents on a 36-cent package.

WAR WARNING

Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky of the Federation of Rhodesia and Newaland forewarns war in Africa unless the "evil progress of racialism" is stopped and the discipline of reality imposed on new political leaders. He said independence came "too soon" to many countries and the price the people would have to pay would be a heavy one. Above all, perhaps, the evil progress of racialism must be stopped, because if it is not, without doubt it will lead to war on this continent, if not elsewhere as well, he said.

HERTER ANNOUNCES PLAN Uniform Tariff Cuts Urged

WASHINGTON (CP) — Chris Herter, President Kennedy's chief tariff negotiator, today proposed that each Western country agree to "reduce" all its tariff rates by a percentage to be agreed upon.

"Of course, each country will have exceptions—items which they feel they must reserve from the uniform tariff reduction," Herter said in disclosing the details of U.S. tariff proposals under Kennedy's trade expansion act.

"We contend that these exceptions should be kept to a minimum."

Herter spoke before the U.S. Chamber of Commerce annual conference following weekend talks at Ottawa. Victor Oland, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, greeted Herter from Canada and expressed the belief that Canada, with few exceptions, "appreciate the leadership the U.S. is giving for peace and prosperity in the world."

Now that the Canadian election is over, Oland said, "there is no longer any barrier to the free trade agreement."

Queen Of Greece Manhandled In London Chase Says Report

LONDON (AP) — An informant actually had to take to their heels and they finally took refuge in the home of a complete stranger, the informant said. The incident took place on April 20 as the queen and her daughter were leaving their London hotel (Claridge's).

Queen Frederika and Princess Irene came to Britain to attend, with other European royalty, the wedding of Princess Alexandra and Angus Ogilvy last Wednesday.

They plan to leave for Athens Tuesday.

The informant said the chase and other developments here may have endangered the projected state visit to King Paul and Queen Frederika to Britain in July.

SCOTLAND YARD MUM
Scotland Yard, citing security reasons, refused comment.

The Earl of Home, British foreign secretary, last weekend expressed his distress and offered apologies for two other incidents during Queen Frederika's stay in Britain. He did not mention the April 20 chase.

Big San Francisco Plan For Underground Travel

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Voters in the district's three counties decided it was worth it to try to solve the problem of increasing motor vehicle traffic congestion. The price will provide electric trains able to travel at 70 miles an hour, top speed and to move 30,000 passengers an hour on each track. Trains will be available every 90 seconds at peak periods.

Without federal aid the project could be completed by 1972. Metropolitan regions around the world are watching the San Francisco project closely to see how effectively it may overcome the threat of economic strangulation universally experienced in urban centers.

Many major cities have studied transit plans and have

Ku-Klux-Klan Rebellion Hits South African Church

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—South Africa's powerful Dutch Reformed Church is in the throes of a rebellion by young ministers against an all-white Ku Klux Klan-type secret society, the Broederbond Band of Brothers.

The church wields tremendous influence throughout the country, especially among the white Afrikaans-speaking population. One of its regional synods turned down a proposal that the activities of the organization be investigated.

Many ministers are members of the Broederbond. So, apparently, is Premier Hendrik Verwoerd, proponent of racial segregation. Published statements on his membership have not been refuted by the premier.

The Broederbond is deeply involved in important spheres of South Africa's national life. It is common knowledge that top appointments are controlled by

Record Canadian Death Toll On Highways During 1962

OTTAWA (CP)—A record 3,879 persons lost their lives in 1962 traffic accidents in Canada, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today.

The 1962 toll was 15.2 per cent above the previous record of 3,366 deaths in 1961.

More highway deaths occurred in Newfoundland, Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia and the Yukon and Northwest Territories. There were fewer in Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Manitoba while the Nova Scotia total was unchanged.

The number of persons injured in traffic accidents rose 11.9 per cent to 111,116 from 99,263 in 1961.

Many Problems Rest On Pearson Doorstep

Opening of Parliament is less than three weeks away and the Pearson government has on its hands a mass of problems to be answered and to be answered quickly. Those who win power also win problems.

First of all the country will need a budget; for the last Parliament was dissolved without a budget being presented and the preceding Parliament without one being approved. Nor will a routine and obvious budget be enough. The Liberal party in the campaign promised new approaches to the country's economic needs. A budget is the opportunity to show policy in action.

Nor can the budget ignore the financial difficulties of the provinces, as they try to find revenues they need from some of the same taxing fields as Ottawa.

In particular, Mr. Pearson is faced with the declaration by Premier Leasage that the needs of Quebec will demand that Ottawa vacate 25 per cent of the personal income tax field, 25 per cent of the corporation taxes and 100 per cent of succession duties. Mr. Leasage has given Ottawa 12 months to accomplish such a withdrawal, or he will feel compelled to resort to drastic measures. If Mr. Pearson makes such a concession to Quebec, it will have to apply to all 10 provinces. The loss of revenue involved is awesome.

Any such tax revision is only part of the larger need to meet the crisis in Canadian federalism.

Many other problems await action. There is, for example, decisions to be made on a remarkable number of royal commission reports. There is the MacPherson Royal Commission's report on the railways. Pending action on this report the Diefenbaker government had imposed a "freeze" on the general level of freight rates, with an interim compensation. But this act expired on April 30, 1962. The whole matter is now both open and urgent.

Then there is the report of the Gill commission on how to save the unemployment insurance fund from collapse. And there is the report of the Glasse commission on efficiency in the civil service.

As if this were not enough the government will have little time in which to form its policies on foreign trade. Before the middle of next month a member of the cabinet must leave for London to attend the meeting of the Commonwealth ministers. Here Canada will learn what Britain's trade attitudes are, in view of the closing of the Common Market's door. Britain is very dissatisfied with the old Commonwealth preferences, and Mr. Pearson may have to face demands for an extensive review of what has long been one of the foundations of Canada's trade.

Also in May, Canada will have to send its representatives to Geneva to join the other 42 nations that subscribe to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. This is no regular meeting. It is the biggest renegotiation of tariffs that has been undertaken since GATT was founded. The effect upon Canada's trade will be far-reaching.

In May, too, will be the NATO meeting in Ottawa. And Mr. Pearson has scheduled visits to both Prime Minister Macmillan and President Kennedy.

Relations with the United States also require prompt action on a number of points. Prominent among them is the Columbia River Treaty. If Canada does not come to terms (and this involves working out a deal with British Columbia) the United States will go somewhere else to get its power, and will not be interested any longer in the Columbia.

In defence there is the issue of the nuclear weapons. It will be a difficult issue for a government to carry through a divided House. And, too, there are all the problems of agricultural policy, including the subsidies for manufacturing butter in quantities that nobody wants to buy.

This list by no means exhausts the problems. But these are among the main problems that will have to be faced. As they are all urgent, and even overdue, they will allow for no delay. Speed demands decisiveness. But decisions have not only to be swift but sure. Errors will be nonetheless errors for being made promptly.

But if there are great problems, there are great opportunities. Mr. Pearson and his cabinet have not only the obligation to make decisions; they have also the chance to make history. And it will be the history of a turning point for Canada.

THE HOLD-OUT

Three Years and Millions For Study On Waterway

WASHINGTON (CP) — A highly qualified source says it will take at least three years and several millions of dollars before studies can be completed to decide whether an improved Lake Champlain waterway is economically and physically feasible for Canada and the United States.

Proposed by Senator George Aiken, Vermont Republican, the two governments asked the International Joint Commission almost a year ago to study and report on the feasibility of developing or improving the 265-mile waterway, roughly in the area between Sorel, Que., and Albany, N.Y.

Actually, such a study was made in 1937 but the commission asked a special waterway board to start anew and the board now has provided the Canada-U.S. body with a confidential report, intended to outline planning schedules for the next 12 months.

The board, it is learned, suggested the planning be done in two phases, with the first phase completed, say, in about 18 months and the next phase tackled after that. On that basis it would be 1966 or later before the board would complete its work and provide a report on which the commission could base recommendations to the governments.

The U.S. government has provided $50,000 for study costs this year but the board has proposed the amount be doubled and that a similar sum be provided by Canada. These sums would be augmented later as the studies proceed on the basis that it would take about $1,000,000 by each government to complete the full economic and engineering studies.

The board would undertake the question of whether the waterway could best be served by a shallow - draft barge system, with a depth of 12 to 14 feet, or a full depth of 27 to 30 feet for seagoing vessels.

It also would determine whether the termination point for such a waterway should be at Sorel, making full use of the Richelieu River that connects to Lake Champlain or whether there should be a cut-off leading towards the Montreal area and into the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The source estimated that construction of an improved or newly developed waterway would cost hundreds of millions of dollars. In 1937, the commission estimated a 27-foot waterway from the St. Lawrence River to the Hudson River via Lake Champlain would cost about $342,000,000 — and costs have risen since then.

However, proponents of the project at that time estimated they could save about $100,000,000 a year in transportation costs by routing cargo through the waterway instead of the 1,671-mile open sea route from New York to Montreal. Maritimeers argued this proposed cut-off would take cargo business away from Maritime's ports.

In 1938 the commission suggested the project should not be undertaken except perhaps as an extension of a then-proposed St. Lawrence Seaway. It pointed out at that time "the St. Lawrence waterway is not yet assured and in any event could not be completed and put into operation for a number of years." The seaway was completed in 1959.

Commodore Robertson, now retired, sees a bright future for the Arctic with its great deposits of iron ore, copper, sulphur and other natural resources.

But, he says, it will not be accessible by sea transport for a "few generations."

A practical explorer, Commodore Robertson was captain of HMCS Labrador—now a transport department icebreaker—when she sailed across the Arctic Ocean to the Pacific from the Atlantic in 1954.

He said the voyage revealed a usable North West Passage—one that could be used even in winter by nuclear submarines. The RCMP vessel St. Roch had traversed the Arctic Ocean in 1912 but her route was not practical for general use.

Now a geography lecturer at McGill University and a governor of the Arctic Institute of North America, Commodore Robertson says the atomic-powered submarine would be the vehicle to transport the minerals of the far north under the ice to world markets.

The 56-year-old sailor, in Halifax recently on a short visit before leaving for the Arctic with a United States expedition, is no stranger to travelling under ice. He was in the U.S. submarine Sea Dragon as an observer on a 46-day undersea trip to the North Pole in 1960.

He said rigors of the Arctic had been exaggerated by early explorers. With modern equipment the prospect of living and working in the north was comparable in safety to living on the Prairies.

Mysterious Bug Biting Anglers

The cold-blooded inhabitants of Canada's uncountable lakes and streams are biting the mysterious lure that annually entices red-blooded humans in hundreds of thousands to go fishing.

The lure used by the fish to catch humans is a mystery, but it is known to be at least as effective as the increasingly elaborate gear employed by the humans to catch fish.

It casts a spell that draws otherwise rational men, boys and even level-headed housewives to seek salmon on the West Coast, muskies from the French River or steelhead on the Stikine. The worst spasm comes in the spring, coinciding roughly with the start of the trout season.

The provincial governments, which regulate sport fishing, appear to be abetting the angling ailment. A cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press shows that while there are few changes in fishing rules this year the general trend is to stretch the season where considerations of conservation allow.

The provincial administrations, like governments everywhere, are prompted in part by thoughts of increasing revenue and the knowledge that good fishing attracts thousands of non-residents to spend their vacations and their money.

Ontario, for example, picks up more than $2,500,000 annually from the sale of fishing licences, the major portion from the $6.50 non-resident permits sold to visiting United States sportsmen and the rest from $2.25 resident permits for fishing in provincial parks.

The New Brunswick government reels in more than $150,000 annually from leasing exclusive fishing rights on river stretches, and some of the bigger payments come from Americans. It has been estimated that cost of the rights alone means a lessee pays about $30 per salmon caught.

Manitoba raised the price of licences this year from a general $1 to $2.25 for residents and $4.50 for non-residents. The government says the increased revenue will help pay for expanded efforts in fish research, development and stocking programs.

REPRIEVE IN N.S. Nova Scotia has legislation on the books providing for fishing licences, but outdoormen there appear set to escape the fee at least for this season. The act was passed in 1962 but with some seasons already open in Nova Scotia, the government has made no move to institute the licence.

Prince Edward Island charges residents $1 and non-residents $3 for a season's fishing rights, and Alberta levies a straight $2 for a licence.

Alberta and British Columbia have year-round open seasons on all fish, with some regional exceptions. Official regard for spawning and conservation closes some waterways to fishermen at various periods and in Alberta it is forbidden to catch and keep sturgeon at any time. The catch limit per day varies with the species.

Saskatchewan has a long season for almost everything but large-mouth bass. The general season opens May 4 and the large-mouth season begins July 26, both seasons running until next March 31.

Big game in Manitoba is May 14, running to the end of next March, for almost everything but sturgeon and Arctic grayling, which are available to fishermen from June 15 and trout, which receive a month's respite from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15. Perhaps in compensation for the higher licence fees, Manitoba this year declared an early opening for most trout and Arctic char in certain specified waters starting April 15.

TROUT SEASON EARLIER Ontario, too, opened the trout season earlier than the usual May 1. The season for brook, speckled and brown trout in southeastern Ontario opened March 1 and April 27 was opened day elsewhere in the province for these species and for Aurora and rainbow trout. Opening date generally is Sept. 15 but runs into October or November in some regions.

Quebec's trout season is longer, running generally from April 17 to Sept. 30, roughly the same as last year. Almost the only changes in Quebec's fishing laws this year are designed to counter excessive catches of sturgeon and speckled trout. Sturgeon must be carried home whole, and speckled trout regulations now include a daily weight limit of 12 pounds if cleaned, 15 pounds whole.

Fishing for New Brunswick's renowned salmon is permitted within regionally varying dates between May 15 and Oct. 31—April 15 to Sept. 15 for landlocked salmon and trout. The salmon limit is four daily from reserved waters, two a day from public fishing areas.

Earlybirds could get special permission to fly-fish for Atlantic salmon from April 1. They can hook up to five a day but must throw back four of them. However, a persistent winter in the Maritimes has signalled a late start for fishermen.

SEASON VARIES A mobile fisherman in Nova Scotia can start after salmon April 1 in the southwest and continue until Oct. 15 in the northeast, the season being progressively later moving from the south shore to Cape Breton. Most trout are available April 15 to Sept. 15.

Prince Edward Island is improving the fisherman's lot by assisting nature to improve the living conditions of fish. New dams are providing better fishing areas, but speckled trout remains the main game. The speckled season runs April 15 to Sept. 30 and the limit is 20 a day.

In Newfoundland, the season for brook and sea trout has been open since Jan. 15 but all except the addit wait until May 24, the day almost everybody goes "troutling" by tradition. The salmon season opens May 24, too, and both seasons run to Sept. 15. The trout limit has been cut back to 24 a day from last year's 36.

For the angler who finds even the generally liberal provincial regulations restrictive, there's always the Northwest Territories and the Yukon. Up there, only the weather limits the fishing.

The Growing Compact

When the North American automobile industry finally reacted to the competition provided by the makers of small European cars, the "compact" was evolved.

This was, and is, a vehicle that reversed the prevailing trend to bigger and more powerful machines, and offered a measure of economy and convenience.

Its success was almost immediate—as the compact "population" here and elsewhere on the continent indicates.

But, points out an American newspaper, the American automobile industry seems to be travelling the same road in the development of compacts as it did with the big car.

Current emphasis is being laid on the "roomier" compact, the machine with more power. In the near future, suggests the American newspaper, it will be difficult to tell the "bigger and better" compacts from the standard model.

Then, it seems, the whole process will have to be repeated. The small European designer will claim a large part of the market again and makers of bigger compacts will have to revert to compact compacts once more.

The American newspaper thinks enlarging the compact doesn't make much sense—a point on which many people will agree.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Pap Test Saved Life

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Your articles on hysterectomy and the Pap test interested me very much.

Recently I had a hysterectomy as a result of a Pap test. I went to the Cancer Centre because I didn't know a doctor as I've always been in perfect health. A friend later gave me the name of her doctor.

Two biopsies were done before the operation.

It's hard to explain my feelings just now about all this. It's like a miracle, a dream. The cancer was detected so early. I'm only 30 years old.

You see, I just went for this test "out of the blue." Now my doctor calls me "Mrs. Fortunata." —MRS. K.Y.

The important thing is that here—very likely—a life was saved. Yes, the cancer might have been discovered later, and in time. Or it might have been discovered too late.

I can see nothing wrong with having free tests if they are available. Use them! That's what they are for.

Certainly several scores and perhaps several hundreds of women, probably most of them older than Mrs. Fortunata, had Pap tests about the same time she did, and were told there was nothing to worry about.

It's that one woman in many that we seek—the one who can be saved if the danger is discovered in time.

I hope Mrs. Fortunata keeps telling her friends. She saved herself by following a hunch. By telling her story, she can save some others.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our daughter is eight months pregnant. Her doctor insisted on having an X-ray before he would deliver the baby. Now everyone tells her she should not have had it done. What danger is there from having one X-ray.—M.D.

I have patience with these calamity howlers who seem to enjoy frightening other people gratuitously. Yes, there is danger to the baby (not the mother) from X-ray exposure early in pregnancy. This means the first three to four months. The risk is virtually nil in the last month of two since by then the baby is quite well-developed. And an X-ray at times can be most important in assuring the safety of both mother and child at delivery. Please ignore the comments of "everyone."

Dear Dr. Molner: My father is 86 and has been in perfect health all his life. He still goes to his office. However, his eyesight is failing rapidly and he was advised to have an operation. He thinks he is too old. I believe you have written that age does not prevent such operations.—L.H.

You are right. In past decades the strain was such that older people did not come through surgery too well. This is no longer true. Operations far more drastic than eye surgery now are being done with patients in their 90's and occasionally even older.

Your father is an unusually vigorous man, obviously. Even if he were frail, I would still tell him to have such an operation. Age no longer is of any great moment for a person in good health.

TODAY IN HISTORY

April 29, 1963 . . .

The little coal mining village of Frank, Alta., was obliterated 60 years ago today — in 1903 — when an estimated 70,000,000 tons of rock crashed down in a landslide from Turtle Mountain above the village. Only a handful of persons survived. The slide was estimated at 500 feet deep, 4,000 feet wide and 1,300 feet high.

1946 — Twenty-eight Japanese leaders were indicted as war criminals.

1857 — The first electric locomotive made a trial run on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

In Passing

"A parent in the United States is good for 17 years." — Albuquerque (N.M.) Journal. Well maybe so, if said parent has enormous stamina and well-behaved children.

"Scientists have never been able to explain satisfactorily why people need sleep." — Science note. No doubt they mainly need sleep in order to take vacations from themselves, thereby avoiding being bored to death.

"Rock 'n' roll is the tribal music of adolescents," says a U. of Calif. professor. Some believe the atavism goes further back than that, and feel that if a coconut were tossed into a crowd of rock 'n' rollers, they would set in screeching and jabbering.

VICTORIA MERRY-GO-ROUND

Ferry Service To Social Credit

VICTORIA — Premier Bennett is certainly up to his eyes in the ferry business. And more power to him. His boldness five years ago has resulted in a splendid service between Vancouver Island and the mainland. Without the government's ferries we on the southern tip of this island would be just about isolated from the rest of the province.

I know people who just cannot abide Social Credit, but they will admit that the premier did a great job with the ferries. That's the only good job such people will admit the premier has done in more than 10 years in office. They admit it grudgingly, but as long as they admit it the premier's pleased. He believes that, in due course, he will entirely convert such people to Social Credit.

The premier was full of bounce and pep as he took official delivery of the gleaming new Queen of Esquimalt from her builders, the 100-year-old Victoria Machinery Depot.

There were crowds aboard for the three-hour cruise in the Strait; indeed, so many people insisted on horning in on the free boat ride and free box lunch that the Queen of Saanich had to be pressed into service to handle the overflow.

It was a blustery day in the Strait, but that didn't worry anyone, what with everything for free. Even the anti-Social Crediters didn't mind listening to the premier make a speech. The premier had a fine time with his captive audience.

Now that the premier has taken the tolls off the bridges, people are wondering if he'll take the tolls off the ferries. However, he won't be able to do that, because if he did, the ferries would never be able to keep up. Indeed, there'd have to be ferries leaving the terminals every five minutes, day and night, and, of course, we, the taxpayers, could not possibly afford that.

I would not be surprised if, before the next election, whenever that will be, the premier will reduce the ferry fares. That would most certainly make a great hit with the voters. What a wonderful, welcome Social Credit dividend that would be.

The two new ferries now building here will be called Queen of Nanaimo and Queen of New Westminster. There are those cynics of politics who say the premier names ferries only after Social Credit territory, but that is not so. New Westminster is New Democratic territory.

Our premier ceases to amaze me. I don't know where he gets his energy. The pace he sets for himself would, in quick order, do me right in. I suppose it's that he's never bored. He's always optimistic, convinced that some day all of Canada will be booming and beeping right along under Social Credit. That's his dream. That's his ambition. That's what he'll be fighting for as long as there's breath left in him.

LETTER TO EDITOR

BARGE COLLEGE

Sir: May I, through the fidelity of your paper, make a suggestion in regards to the proposed junior college in the Okanagan?

The writer, although impartial as to location of such a college, would suggest that it should be built on barges.

The proposed North Okanagan canal would increase the value of such a plan, plus the undoubted educational value of travel, thus creating much-needed goodwill and understanding between all communities.

G. HAMMOND, Okanagan Centre.

FIRST PRIZE WINNERS OF "MAD" HATS AT WESTBANK

MRS. PAT HARRISON, CLASS INSTRUCTOR, AND MRS. D. GELLATLY

Mad Hatter's Tea A Great Success

WESTBANK "Mad Hats" by Dodo McLaren and Mrs. Alex Windt, and both before and after, made judging a difficult task at the annual Mad Hatter's tea, sponsored Friday by the Evening Circle of Westbank United Church and held in the Community Hall.

Judging were Mrs. Pat Harrison, of Westbank, Mrs. H. O. Paynter, Mrs. Geoffrey Swift and Mrs. E. K. Parker, and finally elected as winners: Mrs. Fred Dickson, Lakeview Heights, for her original floral hat in natural flowers, and second, Mrs. Kazuo Tanaka, Westbank, for her ruffled beauty that rose to a peak at the crown. For the "funniest" hat, Mrs. Don Poole, Lakeview Heights, with her tree of knowledge, and second Mrs. Ken Harding of Kelowna, who had typified "washday" complete with clothesline hung with miniature clothes.

Mrs. Joe Lakusta, Westbank, placed first for the most original, a gaudy's dream decorated with seed packages, tools, hose and summer, while Mrs. W. H. Rest, Lakeview Heights, took second prize in this class for her hat composed of beauty parlor accessories.

CHILDREN PARTICIPATE
In the children's class for the prettiest, Ayon Wakefield, was awarded first prize for her hat depicting a dainty birthday cake, and Anne Macdonald, Entice, second with her "Duck's Deck" hat. Ted, from Peachland won in the prettiest class, was Steven Davis, taking the prize for a spring hat decorated with baby clothes, and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin, little girl playing first with a fantastic whimsy.

Among the boys, Patrick Reice placed first for his "space-age" hat. David Corne following up with a clever, fancy, funk idea. For official ideas, Henry Paynter Jr. took the prize for a peacock feather creation and Robert Euston came a close second with his western hat made gay with feathers, suckers and what not.

Second to last everywhere at once, we found a contest, and taking up a hard detail in the contest, were the children's class. Mrs. H. O. Paynter, of Kelowna, took first prize for her hat depicting a dainty birthday cake, and Anne Macdonald, Entice, second with her "Duck's Deck" hat.

Do sharp stinging pains shoot down your thigh? Is it hard to bend? Is it hard to get up? If so, you're suffering from sciatica. Try T.M. 1000. It's the only relief. Only 45¢ and 95¢ at drug counters everywhere.

ANN LANDERS

Mother Not Always Right

Dear Ann: Ten years ago it is permitting it domination is when my husband moved his office into a new building he asked me to do the decorating. I worked awfully hard but the results were worth it. I used walnut paneling, beiges, browns and burnt orange for contrast. Everyone remarked on the quiet elegance and the atmosphere of dignity and restfulness. Friends suggested I go in for decorating as a career.

Several weeks ago my husband mentioned re-doing his office. His secretary is putting to work some of HER ideas, he said.

Yesterday when I saw the finished office I almost fainted. It looks like a Miami nightclub. I said nothing but I'm sure he sensed my disappointment. Should I come right out and tell him his office is a monstrosity and that I'd be happy to re-do them for him?

He seems to think his secretary did a "sensational" job. Please advise — OUTRAGED.

Dear Outraged: Say nothing. Any comment from you would sound like sour grapes.

Get busy on a decorating project at home. It will help to keep your mind off the office. And stay away from there. If you don't see it, it won't bother you so much.

Dear Ann Landers: Mother has always run my life. I thought when I married she'd stop, but no such luck.

Mother is a bright woman and I'm certain much of her advice is sound. I resist it, however, just because it comes from her. Now, we are having a violent disagreement and I'd like your views.

Our 3½-year-old son has been walking and talking since he was 11 months old. He's unusually active and I'm exhausted trying to keep him from destroying the house.

I've lost 20 pounds since this child was born. My doctor suggested nursery school, from 10:00 to 3:00 p.m., not only to give me relief, but to keep the boy busy. My mother says young women today are running away from their children and dodging their responsibilities by sticking their pre-school children in day nurseries. She says this produces insecure, rejected children. Is mother right or wrong? — NO MATCH FOR MOM

CLASS MODELLED HATS
Considerable interest was evident in the added attraction this year of the modelling of hats by the millinery class taught by Mrs. Harrison during the winter and spring, with the instructor doing a running commentary as the models paraded their clever creations of fabric, felt and straw. At the close of the showing, Mrs. David Gellatly made a presentation to Mrs. Harrison on behalf of the class, whose lessons ended earlier this month.

Up till the 1920s nearly 200 scholars still worked out of Lunenburg, N.S.

Don't Belittle Me, Or BC Gaglardi Warns Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Philip Gaglardi, the controversial minister of highways for British Columbia, gave a 20-minute press conference in Toronto Sunday night.

He said policemen who are able to get a driving conviction against him subsequently are promoted to sergeants. (Mr. Gaglardi has had six traffic convictions in recent years and has lost his licence three times). He ordered reporters to print a statement on his attitude toward the law. "I'm not a lawless man. The law is the law," he warned a newspaper man not to belittle him or the people of British Columbia. "British Columbia is the fastest-growing province in Canada." Mr. Gaglardi was linked recently with allegations of graft in the B.C. highways department. He was cleared and the charges were found to be false. "The other politicians are always gunning for me," he said. "I don't mind. You don't shoot at a dead duck."

SMALL CRAFT WARNING

Not so much a warning as a suggestion. Outboard motor boats have their troubles. Accidents happen. And that's why, if you're a new boat owner, we suggest you talk over a low-cost Wawanesa Mutual all-risk policy with us. Low-cost? Consider. Say your boat's full value is $500. Basic premium is $20. But with Wawanesa, cost of this same protection is reduced if you meet certain qualifications. If you store your craft in your garage during winter, for example, you would pay only $16. You enjoy still further reductions if you observe the recommended horsepower, if you're a married homeowner, or if you insure your boat at a reputable marina. To discuss this Wawanesa boat policy in detail, simply give us a call or drop in any time.

Tourist Industry Leaders Open Project Hospitality

VERNON (Staff) — Leaders in the tourist industries of the Okanagan checked into the Allison Hotel this morning for Project Hospitality.

The project is a national series of training seminars designed to assist local tourist organizations and all business people in contact with tourists. It is sponsored by the Canadian Tourist Association and the B.C. Tourist Association.

On April 25 in Vancouver a similar conference was held and was attended by Max T. Fisher, Vernon and Fred Healey, secretary manager of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce who was elected the BCTA's honorary secretary.

Through intensive group study sessions at the one-day conference here, travel industry leaders will gain a host of ideas which they can take back to their communities and put into action, according to Ellwood Rice, re-elected president of the BCTA and president of the Okanagan Valley Tourist Association of Vernon.

Chief speaker at the Vernon all-day conference is L. G. Ercoyd, executive director of the Canadian Tourist Association. How to strengthen local tourist work is the subject of his talk to more than 100 registered members.

The seminar began at 9 a.m. and will end at 5:30 p.m. Mr. Ercoyd is a former B.C. provincial manager for the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. He succeeded John Fisher—known as Mr. Canada in tourist circles—who was appointed to a federal government position to co-ordinate for the 1967 Canadian centennial celebrations.

Trumpet Girls On Parade

VERNON (Staff) — The Vernon Girls' Trumpet Band, showing off their new drums valued at more than $1,000, Saturday paraded from Railway parking lot to the Coldstream motor hotel where they held a special concert and tea.

The banquet room, donated for the afternoon by Art Hutt, manager of the hotel, was decorated in band colors—purple and gold. The band played at 3 and 5 p.m. in the pub. Pourers at the tea were former band girls. Mrs. J. Scott and Mrs. Bev Grant, once leaders of the band; Mrs. D. D. Bock-Phillips, former lead drummer, and Mrs. N. Haachar, former lead trumpeter.

Bucking Horse Injures Rider

VERNON (Staff) — A Vernon girl is in good condition in Jubilee Hospital here today after she was thrown from a horse she was riding near the airport road.

Linda Steward, 18, of R.R. 2, was bucked from the horse and when taken to hospital with back injuries. It is not known how the accident occurred.

Salvation Army Grows "At Fast Pace" In Canada

VERNON (Staff) — Expansion of Salvation Army facilities in Canada is continuing at a fast pace and in response to need, said Leslie Frost, chairman of the Salvation Army National Advisory Board when announcing the $3,018,651 national objective of the 1963 Red Shield appeal scheduled for May.

The campaign in Vernon and district gets under way on May 1. Outlying districts and business section will be canvassed initially with the residential drive scheduled for a week Saturday, May 13. It is hoped, said Capt. Ian Carmichael of Vernon, that a blitz will be held May 18.

In announcing the arrangements today, Capt. Carmichael appealed to the public for general support for this annual appeal not only in terms of dollars and cents, he said, but in offers of help in connection with the canvassing.

Mr. Frost described the objective nationally as "a minimum necessity in order to maintain the army's extensive social and character building series." He said that the policy toward the "ideal of self-support" would continue and that institutions would be expected as far as practicable be self-sustaining. The Canadian public, Mr. Frost said, would be asked only to meet the deficit on such operations.

"Increased services, however, can only mean increased maintenance costs," Mr. Frost said. The Salvation Army he said had achieved remarkable success in its expansion program through the years and the Canadian public will make certain that the national Red Shield will be "an unqualified success" so these services vitally needed will be adequately supported.

ROSE PLANTING THE EASY WAY

No special tools are needed to plant a beautiful rose in your garden. Select quality bushes and trees from these simple and easy planting steps recommended by A.B. American Rose Selections.

1. Dig a hole 18" wide and about 18" deep. Replace several inches of loose, prepared soil and mix with a cup of balanced rose food and several shovelfuls of peat moss. Lay moist, composted Form a mound in center.

2. Place rosebush on mound and spread its roots naturally down slope. Position plant on mound so that bud union (knob-like, swollen area) is at about ground level.

3. Cover the roots with soil, working in the soil around roots to eliminate air pockets. Fill hole three-quarters full and tramp down firmly. Pour several pailful of water into hole and allow to drain.

4. After water has completely settled, fill in remainder of holes with soil and mound up around canes to a height of about eight inches. Remove protective mound after a week or ten days.

Right Way To Mow Lawn

Here are some lawn care tips. Proper mowing can greatly enhance the appearance and health of any lawn. For instance, grass allowed to go to seed does not spread. Instead, it grows in clumps and the result is a spotty lawn. The little seed gained by this process is more than offset by the lack of root increase and the unsightly appearance.

Grass should be cut short until the end of May or middle of June. During this initial period, keep the lawn well fertilized and try to get a complete ground cover. When this is completed, start cutting the grass at a height of three inches.

There are several good reasons for keeping the grass cut long during the hot summer months. The leaf growth will shade the grass roots in hot summer weather and, most important, provides a simple way of preventing weeds and crab grass from seeding. Weeds will not grow in a thick, shady stand of grass. Crab grass will not germinate even in sun-shade.

Long grass and leaves should always be removed. Compost should never be added in hot weather, because grass smothered easily during this period.

The last cutting of the fall should leave the grass not less than one inch long.

Small-Flowered Gladiolus In Demand Everywhere

By G. M. S.

A decade ago, the small-flowered varieties of gladiolus were required the province of the few enthusiasts that grew them. Today, however, the demand from both the home gardeners and the commercial growers indicates that they are firmly established in the affections of gladiolus lovers everywhere.

Most catalogues include in the descriptions the numerical count and size classification designated by the North American Gladiolus Council. The first digit of the number indicates the size and the next two, the count. The true miniature varieties are listed in the 200 class, with flowers measuring 2 1/2 to 3 inches across. These follow the 300 class, which are a medium size, with 3 1/2 to 4 inch flowers.

This latter class poses a problem in classification. Many of them with the general appearance of the miniature varieties include them with the small-flowered listing. In recent years, this class has had more additions than any other, and points to the rapidly growing popularity of this market size.

Canadian, American and European hybridizers have added heavily to this class. They are most useful in arrangements and will fit in where the larger types are to be used. They include the "Bicolor" types with their wide-open and flared forms.

This class includes such well-known varieties as Arica, a ruffled amber-white with vivid scarlet tip; Attica, a light salmon; Cassandra, a brilliant flame; Charmette, a glistering red; cherub, heavily ruffled white, with a cherry blotch; Cui d'or, copper salmon with a yellow throat; Diane, which is a clean medium pink with white throat, and heavily ruffled; Fernina, deep pink with a red blotch; gray love, salmon orange with a deep red tip; and many, lavender, fairy, lavender petal, queen of Blenheim, white, white, and white.

The true miniature varieties are listed in the 200 class, with flowers measuring 2 1/2 to 3 inches across. These follow the 300 class, which are a medium size, with 3 1/2 to 4 inch flowers.

Actually in almost every popular flower there are special dwarf varieties like the Thembelina zinnia, and tiny asters and so on. And of course in what used to be known as edging flowers, things like alyssum, forget-me-not, cobelia, etc., there is a very wide range.

In vegetables, too, the city gardener is advised to stick to those which are small in growth and which give a heavy yield for the space occupied. Carrots and beets are in this category and so are beans, cucumbers, tomatoes, lettuce, onions and spinach.

It is really amazing how many fine meals one can get out of a vegetable plot ten feet by twenty. By keeping the rows close together and alternating one vegetable with another and making several sowings of the quick growing kinds, one can have fine eating from June until October.

TWO COLORS
There are two coloring pigments in plant leaves with the chlorophyll. According to the American Association of Nurserymen, they are carotene, which is yellow-orange, and anthocyanin or red-coloring.

The true miniature varieties are listed in the 200 class, with flowers measuring 2 1/2 to 3 inches across. These follow the 300 class, which are a medium size, with 3 1/2 to 4 inch flowers.

Actually in almost every popular flower there are special dwarf varieties like the Thembelina zinnia, and tiny asters and so on. And of course in what used to be known as edging flowers, things like alyssum, forget-me-not, cobelia, etc., there is a very wide range.

In vegetables, too, the city gardener is advised to stick to those which are small in growth and which give a heavy yield for the space occupied. Carrots and beets are in this category and so are beans, cucumbers, tomatoes, lettuce, onions and spinach.

It is really amazing how many fine meals one can get out of a vegetable plot ten feet by twenty. By keeping the rows close together and alternating one vegetable with another and making several sowings of the quick growing kinds, one can have fine eating from June until October.

TAKEN OUT, BUT GOT THE DOUBLE PLAY

Los Angeles Angels second baseman Billy Moran lands on his face—but got the double play after forcing Detroit's Dick McAuliffe at second base in the second inning of a game played at Detroit. Detroit's Chic Fernandez started the play by grounding to Angels third baseman Tom Satriano who threw to Moran.

New York Mets Heads Clash Over Teenage Ball Player

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel and George Weiss usually see eye to eye but this is one time when New York Mets' wise old manager and astute club president don't agree.

"I think we should farm young Ed Kranepool to Buffalo," Weiss insisted for the umpteenth time. "He's just turned 18. Why he's only a baby. We don't want to be rushing him."

The 13-year-old Stengel refused to listen.

"Sure he's just a boy but he swings a man-sized bat," Stengel said. "Mel Ott and Bob Feller were only 18 and they did all right in the big leagues. I don't see why this boy can't do it, too."

This conversation took place prior to the start of the 1963 National League campaign. Two weeks later, Kranepool, who a year ago was playing for James Monroe High School in New York, was batting .308 and was quickly establishing himself as a favorite with the Polo Grounds clientele.

NOT ALONE

Kranepool is not the only teenager watching his juvenile talent against the skill of much older craftsmen in the big leagues.

Other teenagers on big league rosters include Rusty Staub, the Houston Colt .45 cleanup hitter; Marcelino Lopez, 19-year-old Philadelphia southpaw; and a handful of others who are keeping big league company solely because of the first-year player rule.

Under this new rule, a big league club is forced to pass all but one of its first year high-

Kelowna Buckaroos Hold Annual Banquet May 4

Kelowna Buckaroos' annual hockey banquet will take place Saturday, May 4 at the Capri Motor Inn at 8:30 p.m.

Buckaroo manager Bob Giordano, stated that Hal Laycoe, general manager and coach of the pennant winning Portland Buckaroos, and team captain Gordie Fashway will attend the banquet.

Laycoe, a 12-year veteran in the National Hockey League and one of the most successful manager-coaches in pro hockey, will be the guest speaker.

The Portland management made a substantial contribution to the Kelowna club two seasons back when they outfitted the entire team with new uniforms and equipment and have since made similar donations.

Fashway, one of the all-time great scorers in professional hockey, recently announced his retirement from active play after some 15 years in pro hockey.

He now assumes the new position of chief scout for the Portland club.

The banquet is open to the public and a special invitation is extended to Buckaroo season ticket holders and members of the Kelowna Minor Hockey Association.

HAL LAYCOE ... guest speaker

Laycoe is a perennial booster and supporter of junior hockey in Kelowna and the Okanagan Valley in particular.

He is expected to give an inspiring address touching on a number of phases of the game.

Tickets are available at Jack Coops Smoke and Gift Shoppe at three dollars each and must be picked up no later than Thursday.

Canada Wins Three Gold McCredie Cracks Record

SÃO PAULO, Brazil (CP-AP) — Two Ontario teenagers and the powerful University of British Columbia eight won gold medals Sunday to help give Canada its best day at the fourth Pan-American Games.

Nancy McCredie, 18, of Brampton, Ont., threw the shot 50 feet, three inches to crack the Games record and win the women's shot put.

Atty Hoffman, 16, of Toronto won the initial Games running the women's 800 metres.

And the crew from the University of B.C. in Vancouver won handsily in the eight-oared event—premier competition in rowing.

Canadians also won two silver medals in swim relays and one in swimming. Miss McCredie, Miss Hoffman and the UBC eight.

Collects 14 Golds

The U.S., which swept all 16 gold medals in swimming and three of four in diving, now has 64 golds, 26 silvers and 16 bronzes.

The Canadian medal winners against one defeat and it was an epic one. Not because the wily southpaw spared 11 Giants hits or because he did not issue a single base on balls. More important than that.

It marked the first time in Spahn's illustrious major league career, dating back to 1942, that he registered four victories in the month of April. Spahn is a notoriously slow starter and he usually doesn't get the old southpaw cranked up until after the All-Star break.

Just wait until the weather warms up.

Elsewhere in the league—St. Louis Cardinals whipped Los Angeles Dodgers 9-5 for its seventh straight victory, Pittsburgh Pirates topped the standings by four percentage points over Cards, won their fourth straight with a 3-2 decision over New York Mets. Chicago's surprising Cubs rallied for four runs in the eighth to defeat Philadelphia Phillies 4-1, and Houston Colts snatched a ninthinning tie to top Cincinnati Reds 5-2.

Beat San Francisco

Saturday, Milwaukee beat San Francisco 6-5. St. Louis shut out Los Angeles 3-0. Chicago beat Philadelphia 4-2. Pittsburgh beat New York 2-1 and Cincinnati beat Houston 1-0.

Spahn lost his bid for lifetime shutout No. 37 when Giants scored in the ninth but he gained career victory No. 331 as he turned in his fourth complete game of the campaign.

The majors' second oldest player—only Stan Musial is older—needs just 14 more victories to tie Tim Lincecum for seventh place among baseball's biggest all-time winners.

Henry Aaron led Braves' attack against loser Juan Marichal. He collected two of his team's six hits, including his seventh home run.

Ken Boyer drove in three runs with a pair of home runs and Ernie Broglio registered his third victory as Cardinals' rapped Dodgers. Broglio needed relief help in the seventh inning to keep alive his hex over Dodger. He has beaten them four straight times.

Three eighth-inning singles, capped by Bill Mazeroski's with two out, scored the run that their best performance of the season, said Pittsburgh's fourth straight, the last three against Mets.

Swimmers

Team centre-five picked 25 medals. Mike Day, Brampton, Man., Bill Hare, Ottawa, Gary McMahon, Dartmouth, N.S., and Fernand Lapointe, Quebec City.

Men's 800-metre freestyle relay team (Ralph Hutton, 15, and Sandy Gichrist, 17, both of Okanagan Falls, B.C., and Abby Menhardt, 19, and Ed Carleton, 20, both of Vancouver).

Women's 400-metre freestyle relay team (Sharon Pierce, 15, Prince Rupert, B.C., Ellen Weir, 17, Toronto, and Lynne Pomfret, 16, and Mary Stewart, 17, both of Vancouver).

Sandy Gichrist, men's 1500 metre freestyle.

Bronze

Ralph Hutton, men's 1500 metre freestyle.

Lynne Pomfret, women's 800-metre freestyle.

Lynne Pomfret, women's 800-metre freestyle.

Ellen Weir, women's 100-metre backstroke.

Noreen Dealing, 20, Winnipeg, women's 800-metre run.

Barney Hartman, 66, Ottawa, skeet shooting individual.

Shooting team (Hartman, Eddy Tavo, Rosemount, Que., and Leslie Clegg and Hugh Garland, both of Montreal).

Ageing Spahn Just Gets Better Braves Take Three From Giants

Poor old Warren Spahn. He isn't what he used to be. He's better.

Warren Warren, who turned 42 last Tuesday, pitched Milwaukee Braves into third place in the National League Sunday as Braves swept a three-game series from San Francisco Giants 3-1.

It was Spahn's fourth victory against one defeat and it was an epic one. Not because the wily southpaw spared 11 Giants hits or because he did not issue a single base on balls. More important than that.

Teamsters Nip Balcos 1-0 Hutton Scores Lone Goal

Kelowna Teamsters came up with a big 1-0 win over Kamloops Balcos in a bitterly fought match at Kamloops Sunday.

The Teamsters with numerous lineup changes jumped into early 1-0 lead at the five minute mark on a sole effort by Don Hutton. One minute later Hutton missed on penalty shot awarded to the Teamsters.

Play was relatively even with both clubs making some fine plays. Dieter Beschneich in the Teamsters' net was called upon to make six full length saves.

At the 41-minute mark, a mixup between two Kelowna defenders and a Kamloops forward resulted in a penalty kick to the Balcos.

It was the second time in three games that Beschneich has made spectacular saves from the boot of Andy Malnic.

The first half ended 1-0 in favor of the Teamsters.

The second half found the Teamsters a little slow in getting untracked and the Kamloops club really poured it on.

Time after time Beschneich came up with full length saves and some brilliant defensive work by Fred Heinzelmann at centre half, backs Jim McMillan and Joe Roth were outstanding squashing Kamloops attacks.

The Balcos had four young Indian lads in their lineup. Turning in spectacular performance Ernest Bob, 16-year-old, outside right.

The Teamsters turned in two out, scored the run that their best performance of the season, said Pittsburgh's fourth straight, the last three against Mets.

Canada's only entry in the seven towing events, was favored and it came through an expected, finishing nearly four lengths ahead of Brazil and Uruguay. The UBC time for the 200-metre distance was 6:16.

Members of the winning crew were cox David Overton and coxswain Daryl Sturdy, Marc Lemire, Pete Broome, Tom Gray, Eldon Woodroffe, Don Stokes, Roy McIntosh and Don Dewar.

Edmonton, Niagara Falls Meet For Memorial Cup

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Niagara Falls Flyers, picking up where their predecessors left off 11 years ago, are heading West for another crack at hockey's Memorial Cup.

The Flyers, successors to the Canadian Junior champion Barrie Flyers of 1952, won the Eastern title Saturday night by handing a 13-0 hammering to the New Espanola, Ont., Eagles in the best-of-seven Eastern final.

Opponents of the Niagara Falls team, which moved here three years ago from Barrie, will be Edmonton Oil Kings, who have been in the last three cup finals without winning any. The best-of-seven series will be played in Edmonton starting Thursday.

Happy Emms' Flyers, Ontario Hockey Association Junior A champions, took a four-straight run through the Espanola team, member of a new Northern Ontario Hockey Association Junior League.

On the way to the Eastern title, they went through four playoff series in 19 games, taking 16. They won in straight games from the junior Montreal Canadiens in their league final.

CLEANING THAT FISH after you've caught it... Some fish require scaling, some skinning.

PUT FISH ON BOARD, WITH PAPER AROUND IT TO KEEP SCALES FROM FLYING ALL OVER THE PLACE. SCALE FROM TAIL UP AFTER RUBBING HANDS IN COLD WATER AND DIP IN SALT TO PREVENT SLIPPING.

USE FISH SCRAPER OR SHARP KNIFE. REMOVE FIN, CUT ON EACH SIDE AND EITHER PULL OR CUT THEM OFF.

CUT OFF THE TAIL BY SLICING OR CHOPPING THROUGH BONE STRUCTURE. CUT DOWN CLOSE TO BACK OF HEAD, THEN PULL HEAD DOWN. AS YOU PULL THE FINS, THE INTESTINES WILL COME OUT. BEST THEN TO WASH THOROUGHLY, SEASON AND FLOUR AND BROWN OR FRY IN DEEP FAT.

AFTER CLEANING THE FISH USE A BIT OF LEMON JUICE WHEN WASHING HANDS. IT WILL REMOVE THAT FISH SMELL.

Enderby Downs Redcaps 10-0

RUTLAND—Gary Czapd, Enderby's star chucker, started the season off for his team with a big win at Rutland on Sunday when he threw a one-hitter, and also contributed a triple, and two singles in four trips to the plate to pace his team-mates to a 10-0 slaughter of the Redcaps.

There must have been a measure of sweet revenge for Gary in this, for last year he went through the season without a defeat and Enderby took first, only to have Rutland topple them in two straight games in the play-offs.

Rutland has lost their two

Yastrzemski Masters The Hitting Of Baseballs

Carl Yastrzemski pulled out 2-for-5 and the amazing Athletics' 4-2, Boston took Chicago's recapitulated first place by leading Washington Senators 9-3.

Yastrzemski, who has been slugging under his left-field presence, Ted Williams, came through against an assortment of Chicago pitchers in Sunday's doubleheader sweep. His biggest hit was the 12th-inning double in the opener, against flustered Angels right-hander, Jim Prosser's two-run double in the fifth proved the key hit for the winners, coming off lower Pete Burnside.

Chance and the Angels overcame the Orioles despite five errors, two of them by the Los Angeles pitcher, Claude Osteen that went for a three-base error, George Alousis's single and another bad throw by Chuck Cutler.

Chance and the Angels overcame the Orioles despite five errors, two of them by the Los Angeles pitcher, Claude Osteen that went for a three-base error, George Alousis's single and another bad throw by Chuck Cutler.

Dean Chance pitched a five-hitter as Los Angeles Angels edged Baltimore Orioles 3-2, giving the Orioles to fourth place last first.

Whitey Ford won his first of the year and hit a home run in the eighth, against flustered Yankees pitcher, Roman Mejias scored the clincher on the hit.

Yastrzemski's second spot one, Dick Stuart, 0-for-5 in the game back of the Athletics and opener, scored the Fenway 15 percentage points ahead of Park razzing, stilled the jeers being stung at three, whipping homer and single good for three.

Minnesota Twins 4-0 behind batted in Bill Montanari, Jim Bunning's five-hit pitching, while Eddie Fisher took his 363, scored in the league to the 40 owned by Wayne Causey of Kansas City Athletics.

Causey hit his average with land 81, Baltimore dished out four big runs in the eighth in order.

One Dead In Soccer Riots

ROME (AP)—Italy's soccer rioting Sunday left one dead, 88 injured and two big stadiums wrecked and this sports-loving country shocked.

Of more than 100 persons arrested in the bloody disorders at Naples and Salerno, nearly half still were held in jails today under continued questioning.

At least three of the injured, two of them policemen, were in critical condition. More than 20 still were in hospitals.

Among the injured was Naples' Argentine coach Bruno Passola and five Modena players including German inside-left Albert Bruehl. Neither the coach nor the players were injured seriously.

Almost every newspaper in Italy carries bitter denunciations of the fans who allowed excitement to goad them to violence.

Is a jail sentence news?

Most of the time, the answer is "yes". Newspapers report crime because it is in the public interest.

Without crime reporting, you would get only part of the day's news. Criminals could continue to break the law in a cloak of secrecy. Potential criminals, ignorant of the courts' action against offenders, would not be deterred.

Most known criminals shun publicity. Publicity is one of the law's most powerful weapons in its fight against crime. For, if the public is uninformed, there can be no public pressure to stamp out crime.

Wrong-doing, on any scale, cannot withstand the pressure of newspaper-aroused public opinion. To suppress news about crime, doesn't suppress crime! Consider this when you read a newspaper report of a crime or a jail sentence: You'll know that your daily newspaper is acting in your best interests—as always.

Hitchcock Gives A Lecture On Arts—Movies, And Murder

HOLLYWOOD MAP — Prof. Alfred Hitchcock, dean of murder-movie television, gave a lecture on the art of murder to a group of students at the University of California, Los Angeles, last night. The lecture was given in the lecture hall of the Samuel Goldwyn Creative Writing Awards. His address was titled "The Art of Murder." He said that the art of murder is a very important part of the film industry. He also said that the art of murder is a very important part of the film industry. He also said that the art of murder is a very important part of the film industry.

Dr. Goldwyn had the lecture given in the UCLA Theatre Arts Auditorium. He said that the art of murder is a very important part of the film industry. He also said that the art of murder is a very important part of the film industry. He also said that the art of murder is a very important part of the film industry.

HOME MURDERS DECLINE
Like many other industries, murder is a victim of the 20th century. There are many causes for alarm, but I am particularly concerned with the decline of murder in the home. When I was young, respectable people committed murder in private, behind closed doors and among friends. It is a sad commentary on the decline of family ties that men will now leave their homes and commit acts of violence in places in which, in my day, no gentleman would have thought of going.

As if that were not enough, they frequently murder people at the state in which they have not even the 39th anniversary of his birthday.

Haiti Newsman Said Arrested

NEW YORK, AP — Bernard Diederich, part-time correspondent in Haiti for the Associated Press and the New York Times, was arrested today in Port au Prince, his wife reported. A brief message from Mrs. Diederich gave no reason for the arrest. His last dispatch, Friday, reported that gunmen killed the chauffeur and two bodyguards of President Francois Duvalier as they were exiting his two children to a school two blocks from the presidential palace. The dispatch reported that witnesses to the slayings were arrested.

Diederich, a New Zealander, has been operating the Haiti Sun.

The bidding:

East Pass South West North
Pass 1NT 3♦ 4♦
Pass 4NT

Opening lead—four of hearts. Incredible things sometimes happen at the bridge table, even in championship events. Look at this hand played last year in the match between Italy and the United States.

At the first table with an American pair holding the North-South cards, the bidding went as shown.

South's notrump opening was unusual but many players undoubtedly would have chosen the same bid. When the Italian West (Avarilli) overcalled with three spades, North bid four spades to show his void and a great interest in getting to a slam.

Obviously, North was asking his partner to select a trump suit, but South for reasons unknown, bid four notrump, concealing his exceptionally fine diamonds. Probably North should not have passed at this point, but he did.

So South wound up in four notrumps as a result of the odd auction. Avarilli found the killing opening lead, a heart, and East (Belladonna) took the ace and returned a spade.

Then came the deluge. Avarilli cashed eight spade tricks and declarer went down six. Six diamonds could not be defeated!

At the second table, the bidding followed more normal lines. Forquet and Garozzo now held the North-South hands for Italy. The bidding went:

East South West North
Pass 1♦ 4♦ 5♦
Pass 6♦

Forquet made a cuebid in spades at this table also, but it did him no good, since the American pair sacrificed profitably against the imminent diamond slam by contracting for six spades.

Forquet doubled, but all he could collect was 300 points. He cashed the A-K of clubs and continued with a club which dummy ruffed and Garozzo overruffed. Declarer then took the rest of the tricks.

So the outcome was that the Italians showed a plus of 300 points at each table once the pyrotechnics were over. It just goes to show that almost anything can happen when good friends get together.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Plan this day's work carefully. Pattern activities upon past successful procedures and follow through closely so as to avoid errors. Extend the horizon of your operation judiciously. And don't neglect duties in favor of more frivolous pursuits.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that it would be advisable to exercise caution in financial matters for the balance of 1963. Your best periods along these lines will occur in mid-July, mid-August and early December.

In the intervening months, however, it will be important to avoid extravagance and speculation; to follow the conservative path generally. This will be especially important in mid-July and mid-September.

Where personal relationships are concerned, the aspects will be generally good for the next twelve months, with special emphasis on romance in late May, late August and mid-September.

Domestic matters should run smoothly, but do be careful to avoid friction in family circles in late May and late September.

Bottleneck Of Divorces May Be Cleared In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — An attempt to speed up the passage of a bill to clear up the bottleneck of divorce applications in Ottawa and New Brunswick residents which were held up by new democratic legislation in the last two Parliament sessions.

Informants say, consultations among the four political parties are being considered to deal with the backlog, amounting to about 100 divorce bills.

The bill would be to obtain agreement to rapid passage of certain bargaining powers over these bills, leaving the question of divorce bills held since Parliament was dissolved Feb. 6 to be worked out later.

New Democrats have given no indication whether they plan to continue their blocking tactics, which slowed the number of divorces granted to a trickle.

It is argued in some quarters that by existing in quarters of the old divorce laws, are MPs interested in getting in the blockade would.

divorce committee.

Bills approved by the Senate on the committee's recommendation must receive Commons approval before they can become law. In the Commons passage of all but a handful was delayed when New Democrats used up the limited debating by discussing their own bills.

In previous sessions the bills were passed in large blocks, sometimes ranging up to 100 bills by unanimous consent of all MPs. By refusing unanimous consent the New Democrats were able to debate each bill individually.

In their campaign to rid Parliament of the divorce bills, Mr. Peters and Mr. Howard made a variety of suggestions for alternate handling, ranging from a royal commission study to empowering the Exchequer Court of Canada to grant divorces.

The barred "cage" is really a mirror. At the bottom are these words:

"You are looking at the most dangerous animal in the world. It shares all the animals that ever lived can exterminate and has entire species of animals. Now it has achieved the power to wipe out all life on earth."

Canada "Could Do More To Aid" Millions Of Starving People

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's total population of 3,000,000 does far less than it could and is undernourished and all over should do to aid the billions of the world these people are "starving, undernourished people acting against" and in many who inhabit the world's underdeveloped countries, Keane H. Marshall of Toronto, national director of the Canadian Save the Children Fund, said today.

Canada spent about $85,000,000 on aid to underdeveloped countries last year, but the fund has unfilled requests for assistance totaling nearly $100,000,000, he told the organization's annual meeting.

Any country which can spend $970,000,000 a year on liquor and on the race dead body of the Western civilization can afford to do much more, Mr. Marshall said.

He said a third of the world's population is starving.

ART MODE HAS TWO EXPERIENCED OPERATORS

Torontonian Heads Beauty Salon

Mrs. Edna (Taylor) MacDonald has had a long and colorful life in the world of hairdressing.

Born in Norfolk, Virginia, U.S.A., she was raised and educated in Toronto. It was there she took up her hairdressing career at the age of 16. At this time, permanent waves were some wonderful way to make hair curly.

After three years of general experience, she opened her own shop in Toronto, working in it for 10 years.

She left Toronto to become a color technician in a leading beauty salon in Detroit. One year later she returned to Toronto where her two children, Vicki and Maureen were born. Vicki, her oldest daughter is now a legal secretary in Toronto and Maureen is a grade VI pupil in Kelowna.

In 1952, Mrs. MacDonald left Toronto with her mother and went to Vancouver to work for a trichologist.

AFTER A YEAR AND A HALF, she came to the sunny Okanagan and settled in Kelowna. She has operated her own shop "The Art Mode" at its 719 Harvey Ave. location for the past nine years.

Mrs. MacDonald is very happy to announce the coming of Mrs. Dee (Knox) Johnson to her shop.

Mrs. Johnson has had six years experience, running her own shop in Fort St. John, B.C. for two years before coming to Kelowna where she has worked for the past four years.

Dee has proved herself to be one of the few who excels in the art of hair styling and Mrs. MacDonald feels very fortunate in having her in The Art Mode.

The shop specializes in permanents, hair styling, from practical to high styling, hair coloring, shaping, eye-arching, treatments and facials.

Mrs. MacDonald and Mrs. Johnson will continue to serve their customers to the best of their ability, endeavoring to keep a high standard in the art of hairdressing.

BUY of the WEEK

This week's feature is a lovely 2-bedroom bungalow on a fenced-in lot on DeHart Ave. with a small garage, circle of front porch and a lot shaded with shade and fruit trees. Physically, it has a large livingroom and diningroom, a time-saving kitchen and a bathroom... plus the two bedrooms, of course. Clean, economical, natural, and beautiful. What's more, maintenance cost only $7,200 and your taxes are low!

Why not see it tonight? ... Phone ...
